

June 2015

“Quite time”

Edition

LOS COLORES DEL CARACOL

LOS RESIDENTES DE LA PENÍNSULA CARACOL, A.C.

A Quite month on the hill

Its been a quite month for the most part on the Caracol. The weather has been marvelous. Much cooler than normal for this time of year. Progress on the new gate has been made. All of the new camera hardware has been purchased, tested, and configured. Hopefully we will know more on the engineering report and design in a couple of weeks. Utilities on the hill have been stable and working with few if any outages. The steel gate at the entrance to the Caracol beach, long overdue for some maintenance, has been acid washed and repainted and looks much better now. There are some ongoing construction projects and a couple of major new houses going up, but the jack hammer portion seems to be finished for now, so quite has returned to the hill.

Some may have noticed that the large, ugly, rusted and unsafe tower that was mounted on the top of the upper Pila has been removed. Good riddance to a real eyesore!

A webcam has been purchased that will look out over the bay to the East. This will be accessible from the Caracolassn webpage for our out of town residents. Unfortunately, it has been stuck in Tucson waiting for transport to San Carlos. I don't know if it will get down here before I leave for the summer, so it may have to wait until the fall. If I do get the camera up before I leave, I will notify everyone on the next newsletter.